

DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

This course is designed for gastroenterologists/surgeons already performing endoscopy techniques, as well as GI nursing and technical staff. Expert international faculty will discuss the latest information, including key upcoming presentations from Digestive Disease Week.

COURSE GOAL

To provide the very latest information on advanced GI endoscopy techniques and applications, utilizing experts from USA and overseas, in an informal atmosphere conducive to discussion.

INSTRUCTIONAL OBJECTIVES

By attending this conference participants should be able to:

- Review the business aspects of endoscopy units
- Describe the development of endoscopic ultrasound
- Discuss the management of mucosal neoplasia
- Review progress in colonoscopy
- Explain the potential endoscopic approaches to obesity
- Describe radical endoscopy
- Discuss quality issues in endoscopy
- Describe the status of ERCP in 2010
- Discuss functional digestive diseases
- Review the first ERCPs by Drs. Cotton/Ogoshi
